

EDITORIAL

---

Dear Colleagues,

We are glad to introduce the fourth issue of the 10th volume of our journal in its 10th year. With each new issue, we believe, the quality of the articles is increasing, and we are happy to share with you the news that our journal has also begun to be included in another international index: SCOPUS. Therefore, we would like to thank all members of the editorial board and the publishing house, scientific advisory board and our authors. We are aware that this process has placed new responsibilities on us and we have many more tasks ahead. We should strive hard to make our journal more noticeable and ensure that the articles we have published stand out by greatly contributing to the relevant literature. We have also set an ambitious goal to turn this process into an opportunity through which vast scientific knowledge in psychiatric nursing is acquired and standardization in the field of practice is ensured.

Having these objectives in mind, we introduce seven research studies, two reviews and one case study, all of which will be helpful to our readers.

With our cooperation, we wish to keep moving forward on our journey to achievement.

Very best regards,

Associate Professor Nurhan Eren
