

Turkish Journal of Neurology

EDITORIAL/EDİTÖRYAL

We are here with a new issue.

The most enjoying development of the last year was acceptance of our journal to Emerging Sources Citation Index. From now on, all articles we publish will be indexed in Emerging Sources Citation Index. We should acknowledge Yeşim Parman and Başar Bilgiç, all members of Turkish Neurology Association Board of Directors, and Galenos publishing team for their great role that made this success possible.

Our aim in next year will be acceptance to the Science Citation Index-Expanded which we have already deserved to be in for years.

We should also emphasize change in our journal's format. There will be changes in its interior as the change in front cover. We will include a title named 'Opinion' which aims to be a scientific platform to discuss problems of Turkey's neurologists. Clinical practices, education, and legislations will be able to discussed under this title.

Another new section will be 'Impressions from Congresses and Meetings'. Our aim is to bring prominent topics in scientific meetings of current year to our readers.

Finally, we should also announce the title 'Prominent Topics in Neurology'. In this section we aim to summarize recent scientific publications that drew great attention in neurological sciences.

Please find instructions regarding writing to these sections on our website.

Achievement of its well-deserved place by our journal which is the only scientific publication of our society will only be possible with your contributions.

Yours sincerely

On Behalf of Turkish Journal of Neurology
